

(Credit: iStockphoto/Alexey Teterin) in www.ScienceDaily.com

Configural Face Processing in Schizophrenia

(PhD Completion Seminar)

Nicki Joshua

Nicki is a final year PhD student at the Mental Health Research Institute, enrolled through the Department of Psychiatry. She is investigating cognitive functioning in schizophrenia, with particular interest in social cognition. Her project is specifically looking at the role of configural information in face perception and how different processing styles may impact on how we understand emotional content.

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHIATRY MONDAY COLLOQUIUM

Monday 20 July 2009 / 1North, Main Block,
Royal Melbourne Hospital, Victoria
Lunch: 1215-1230 Presentation: 1230-1330